EXISTING WORKER READJUSTMENT PROGRAMS

ASSISTANCE

The U.S. Department of Labor is responsible for three major programs designed to address the needs of dislocated workers. These programs are the Unemployment Insurance (UI) program, the Economic Dislocation and Worker Adjustment Assistance (EDWAA) program, and the Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) program.

---

PROGRAM FEATURES

Together these programs provide for a flexible, comprehensive, and timely response to layoffs and dislocations. They offer:

- ▶ On-site rapid response for plant closings and mass layoffs.
- ▶ Basic readjustment services, including counseling, job development, supportive services, and relocation assistance.
- ▶ Retraining services, including classroom, occupational skills and on-the-job training.
- ▶ Needs-related payments to workers who are in an approved training program and who have exhausted their unemployment insurance.
- ▶ Wage replacement immediately to workers who have demonstrated attachment to the labor force.

TAILORED

The programs described on the following pages provide a flexible array of adjustment services that can be tailored by the States and localities to address the individual needs of each worker. Over the past few years, much has been learned about worker dislocations. Although the source of dislocation varies, the needs of the impacted workers, their families and their communities are very similar.

UNEMPLOYMENT INSURANCE (UI)

HOW IT WORKS

The Federal-State unemployment insurance system, initiated by the Social Security Act of 1935, offers the first line of defense against the ripple effects of unemployment. By making cash payments directly to laid-off workers, it ensures that at least a significant portion of the necessities of life, most notably food, shelter and clothing, can be met on a week-to-week basis while the worker searches for new employment.

Conceptually, unemployment compensation is designed to provide benefits during periods between jobs to most workers out of work due to no fault of their own. The system is generally financed by a payroll tax on employers. Most States pay a maximum of 26 weeks of benefits, and a few extend the duration somewhat.

In periods of very high unemployment in individual States, benefits are payable under the Extended Benefits (EB) program for as many as 13 additional weeks, up to a maximum of 39 weeks. These "extended benefits" are funded on a shared basis: approximately half from State funds and half from Federal sources.

Almost all wage and salary workers are now covered by the Federal-State system. State agencies take applications and administer payments. States, as agents of the Federal Government, also pay benefits to veterans with recent service in the Armed Forces, former civilian Federal employees, and workers who lose their jobs as a result of a natural disaster.

Under regular and special programs, about 7 million people received $13.6 billion in benefits in Fiscal Year 1988. In this same period, some 5.4 million employers paid $18.3 billion in State unemployment compensation taxes.

AUTHORIZATION

Titles III, IX, XI, and XII of the Social Security Act; Federal Unemployment Tax Act; Federal Extended Compensation Act of 1970; Disaster Relief Act; Trade Act; and unemployment benefits authorized in other Federal statutes.

HOW TO APPLY

Contact a local office of the agency that administers the Unemployment Insurance program in your State.

It should be listed in the State Government section of your telephone directory under such titles as:

- ▶      Unemployment Insurance,
- ▶      Unemployment Compensation,
- ▶      Employment Security, or
- ▶      Employment Service.

ECONOMIC DISLOCATION AND WORKER ADJUSTMENT ASSISTANCE ACT (EDWAA)

HOW IT WORKS

ELIGIBILITY: Dislocated workers whose employment loss means they are unlikely to return to their previous industries or occupations are eligible for assistance under EDWAA. This includes workers who lose their jobs because of plant closings or mass layoffs; long-term unemployed persons with limited local opportunities for jobs in their fields; and farmers, ranchers and other self-employed persons who become jobless due to general economic conditions or natural disasters. Under certain circumstances, displaced homemakers may also be eligible for EDWAA assistance.

SERVICE STRUCTURE: EDWAA is administered through a local service delivery system in which substate areas and grantee are designated to assist dislocated workers.

The Governor of each State is responsible for overall administration and management of the program, including the establishment of a system to respond rapidly to major worker dislocations.

SERVICES PROVIDED: EDWAA emphasizes a comprehensive, timely array of retraining and readjustment services, tailored to workers' individual needs, including long-term job preparation.

EDWAA's major activities and services are:

- ✿ Rapid Response. This is the primary responsibility of the State's Dislocated Worker Unit (DWU), which must be alerted to the plant closings and mass layoffs covered under the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act. When the DWU obtains information about major dislocations, it responds with on-site services to assist workers facing job losses. The DWU may also help to set up a labor-management committee at the worksite and/or assist in efforts to avert worker dislocations.
- ✿ Retraining Services. These include classroom, occupational skills, and on-the-job training. Basic and remedial education, entrepreneurial training, and instruction in literacy or English-as-a-second-language may be provided.
- ✿ Needs Related Payments. Dislocated workers who have exhausted their unemployment insurance (UI) may receive needs-related payments to help them complete training. Payments may not exceed the individual's UI benefits or the poverty level, whichever is higher.

To qualify, participants must be enrolled in training by the end of the 13th week of their initial UI benefit period (or by the end of the 8th week after being informed that a supposed short-term layoff will exceed 6 months). An eligible worker who does not qualify for UI must be participating in a training or education program to receive needs-related payments.

- ✿ Certificates of Continuing Eligibility. Substate grantees may issue these certificates to EDWAA-eligible workers for use in two distinct ways: (1) to defer the start of retraining, or (2) to permit workers to seek out and obtain their own retraining. The alternative training must be approved by the substate grantee.
- ✿ Reemployment Services. These include: outreach and intake; development of individual readjustment plans; labor market information; job development; job search and placement; supportive services; relocation assistance and pre-dislocation readjustment programs.

HOW TO APPLY

Contact the local government agency in your area that administers Job Training Partnership Act programs or your nearest State employment services office.

AUTHORIZATION

The Economic Dislocation and Worker Adjustment Assistance Act (EDWAA) amends Title III of the Job Training Partnership Act (JTPA). It is part of a comprehensive approach to assisting dislocated workers that also includes the Worker Adjustment and Retraining Notification Act (WARN) and the Trade Adjustment Assistance (TAA) program. For the program year beginning in July 1990, the EDWAA program is funded at $463 million.

Purpose

- To provide in a single document a ready reference and up-to-date list of all Job Service, Unemployment Insurance, and skills training program offices throughout the United States.

Contents

- Table of Contents at the beginning of the directory.
- A list of regional offices of the Employment and Training Administration (ETA) and the states which they serve.
- A listing of each state's administrative office of their Employment Security Agency.
- A listing of the local offices within each state, in alphabetic order by local office within each state.

Use of the Directory

This publication can be used

- To direct a worker to the appropriate local office for assistance in obtaining a job when the worker moves from one state to another.
- To direct a worker to the appropriate local office for assistance in filing an interstate unemployment insurance claim.
- To direct an employer to the appropriate local office when the employer relocates or opens a new branch in a different state and desires help in staffing it.
- To direct an employer to the appropriate local office for assistance with Unemployment Insurance.

Updates
